Quality Technician

Date: 21-Jan-2021

ABOUT OUR COMPANY

Mesa Laboratories, Inc. (Mesa) is a global technology innovator committed to solving some of the most critical quality control and analytical challenges in the pharmaceutical, healthcare, industrial safety, environmental, food and beverage industries. Mesa offers products and services through four divisions (Sterilization and Disinfection Control, Instruments, Cold Chain Monitoring and Cold Chain Packaging), which help our customers ensure product integrity, increase patient and worker safety, and improve quality of life.

Founded in 1982, Mesa went public in 1984 and now has a market cap of $500M and revenue approaching $100M. As a growing, highly profitable public company, Mesa serves a wide range of companies from Fortune 500 companies to high-tech start-ups throughout the world.

Today, each of Mesa's products and services play a role in ensuring the safety and efficacy of the products we use every day. No matter if it's the environment, products or people, Mesa is committed to protecting the vulnerable.

Our growth is attributed to the 350+ dedicated employees who follow our customer-focused, lean-based value system, called The Mesa Way. It is based on four pillars and plays a role in daily activities at Mesa:

Measure what Matters: We take the customer's perspective, our "True North", both to measure what matters most to customers and to set absolute standards for performance. We manage to leading indicators, which drive us to proactively avoid problems.

Empower Teams: We move decision making as close to the customer as possible and provide the structure and real time communication forum to align the whole organization behind surpassing customer expectations.

Steadily Improve: We leverage a common and proven set of lean-based tools to prioritize our biggest opportunities, address those opportunities at root cause, and implement change quickly.

Always Learn: We ensure that improvements are sustained, enabling us to raise performance expectations and repeat the cycle of improvement. Equally, this cycle strengthens the Mesa team by providing endless learning opportunities for our employees and helps us to become an employer of choice in our communities.
